

TERMS OF USE, VIDEO LINKS, and ADDITIONAL INFORMATION for Amoeba Sisters Free Recap Handouts

Thank you for your interest in using our free Amoeba Sisters Recap Handouts! We love creating, and we are so happy to hear when they are helpful! While we have always had a terms of use page that outlines our handout use, we also wanted to place it here for your convenience.

Last updated 7/28/2026, statement regarding AI and refreshed handouts

What are your terms of use for your free recap handouts?

Our terms of use allow for using our free handouts from our handout page for classroom use as long as:

- (1) our free handouts are not being used for financial gain
- (2) our handouts are not available in any edited form publicly- meaning they exist as the same file type; nothing added or removed
- (3) text, art, or design from our free handouts are not copied into any other document/work, and
- (4) our name remains on our handouts

Answer keys created using our content can NOT be posted online publicly. This is an editing on top of our copyrighted text and a violation of our terms of use. Answer keys publicly posted are a disservice to other educators who wish to use our activities. It is also a disservice to students as many of our handouts include open-ended questions for students to respond with their own thoughts, which shouldn't be taken away from them. We understand that teachers may wish to create a key, but if online, it needs to be behind a class code or password, so it isn't public. We offer official answer keys on Teachers Pay Teachers, which also have the same terms.

Note: We do not authorize AI use on any of our content: this includes videos, illustrations, or handouts.

Do you have a listing of which YouTube video goes with each of these recap handouts?

Yes! Visit our 📁 Google Sheet here which contains all video links. It also has a tab dedicated to "suggested use" of these resources.

Can your handouts be posted online?

Yes, if the terms of use listed at the top are met.

Your Dropbox folder doesn't contain a handout for every video you make.

What other resources do you have for the other videos?

Visit our 📁 Google Sheet here which lists any resources we create for each video.

Your free handouts are PDFs.

What if I need my students to write on them digitally?

We had previously had some suggestions on our page here. If you are looking for something similar to these that are completely virtual (meaning they have opportunities for students to interactively answer!), we do have digital resources called Amoeba Sisters Virtual Checks available on PocketLab! 🎉

So, you sell answer keys that answer the free recap student handouts in this folder?

Yes, we have an unusual style in that all our videos are free and we also offer many free handouts that go with them. Our official answer keys offer convenience and help support our work. They are offered on TpT (Teachers Pay Teachers). You will find the answer keys linked to TpT in our Google Sheet here. We also combine our answer keys into one large answer key bundle that has a discount from purchasing individually, and we allow custom bundles where you can request certain answer keys bundled together \(just contact us\).

I notice these handouts have a different appearance from the past?

Yes, our handouts were "refreshed" in late summer 2026, with some improved illustrations and layout. Some of the question wording was improved as well, but you will find the content covered to be the same. If you prefer our old handouts, you can download them as individual PDFs on our website.
